A CLASH IN SPAIN.

Monarchists and Republicans.

STREET FIGHT.

Madrid, Yesterday.
For the first time a definite clash between Monarchists and Republicans occurred in Madrid last night when supporters of Jose Primo de Rivera, son of the ex-Dictator, who was a candidate for Parliament, collided with the adherents of Manuel Cossio, the Republican-Socialist coalition candidate. Shouts of "Death to the Republic" and "Viva Primo!" from the Monarchists punctuated the fray in which two young Republicans were injured and three Monarchists arrested by the police.

Cossio's Success.

Cossio has been elected. He polled votes and Primo de Rivera 28,000.
The fact that the latter got so many votes is considered to indicate that the pendulum has begun to swing against the Government, as the name of the Dictator could hardly have been mentioned a few months ago.—Reuter.

Ho Chau pleaded guilty to the theft of a counterpane, the property of Mrs. Fujishima, 31, Spring Garden Lane.
Det. Sub-Inspector Rozesky stated that whilst the complainant was in hospital with fever during the trouble at Wanchai, her home was looted. The Police received information and the defendant was arrested at 18, Tai Yuen Street at 2 a.m. yesterday.
Defendant, who had two previous convictions, said that he was a coolie employed at the Naval Dockyard.
Sentence of six weeks' hard labour was passed.
Lai Kam and Lai Hau were charged with stealing a raincoat and a counterpane from Mrs. Kamatsu, 16, Sampan Street, and a bed-sheet, the property of Mrs. Suhara, 88, Lockhart Road. First defendant was discharged on the ground that there was no evidence of larceny or receiving stolen property against him. Second accused pleaded guilty.
Inspector Rozesky said that both men were arrested in Cross Street and on being questioned they took the Police to pawnshops and recovered the counterpane and raincoat, which had been pawned for 70 cents and $1.50, respectively. Second defendant was sent to jail for eight weeks' labour was passed.
Li Tsai admitted the theft of a jacket from Mrs. Kamatsu, 16, Sampan Street, and a coloured quilt from Mrs. Fujishima.
Inspector Rozesky stated that, in this case, a pawn ticket relating to the jacket was found in defendant's possession.

INFLAMMATORY PAMPHLETS.

Distributor Fined $500.

(Central Police Court).

Arising out of an incident in the recent disturbances, Chan Wing-yin appeared before Mr. Williams this morning charged with having distributed pamphlets of an inciting nature. Another man, Leung Kee, charged jointly with the defendant, absented himself and had his bail of $750 estreated.

Mr. M. K. Lo defended and pleaded not guilty.

The case, as outlined by Detective-Sergeant Fitches, was that on the night of September 24 the defendants were seen by a detective in Des Voeux Road Central, near the Central Market, to distribute a bundle of pamphlets to passers-by, and also to push handbills through the bars of the doors of shops. The detective watched them do this in the case of about ten shops. He then crossed the road, and intercepted the first defendant, who actually gave the detective a pamphlet. Questioned the defendant said he was handing them out "for the love of China." He had no permission from the S.C.A. Defendants were arrested, but the second man escaped and ran up the staircase of house No. 125. The following morning, a warrant was executed on the premises and the defendant was arrested along with several others.

After Detective Ng Fuk had given testimony, Mr. Lo submitted that on the evidence, it would be quite unsafe for the Magistrate to convict. He was not alleging against the malice fides of anyone, but suggested the possibility of the detective having made a mistake as to the actual distributors. A man with a guilty conscience would not have approached a detective on seeing that his friend had been arrested, and the fact that he returned to his premises and stayed there waiting for the Police showed that his mind was clear.

The Magistrate remarked that he could not agree with Mr. Lo that the defendant was not the man who was distributing pamphlets. The detective, he held, could not have made a mistake after keeping the two men under watch for quite a while. He would impose a fine of $500.

Unlawful Possession.

Revolvers and Ammunition.

(Central Police Court).

Lam Shun, a married woman, of 336 Queen's Road West, appeared before Mr. Schofield this morning charged with unlawful possession of two loaded revolvers and ten rounds of ammunition.

In applying for 48 hours' remand, Det. Sergeant Meadows stated that the premises were raided last night as the result of information received. The arms were found in an unlocked drawer in the woman's cubicle. The Police, however, believe that the husband is the responsible person and would like to try to trace him.

The remand was granted.

GLASGOW RIOTS.

Successful Tactics by Police.

London, Saturday.
Not until the early hours was "All Clear" signalled in Glasgow, though the Police patrols found little to do after midnight.

After being harassed by the earlier bombardment of jam jars, bottles, and stones, the Police adopted most successful tactics. They used a fleet of covered vans, drove through the streets, and dashed out and dispersed with their truncheons every troublesome crowd encountered.

Hysterical Girl.

Forty-eight men charged in connection with last night's riots were remanded in custody in Glasgow this morning, after which the dozen mentioned in the cablegram yesterday were brought up and again remanded, Jean Gibson crying hysterically and screaming: "Don't let them take me" as they departed to the cells. Subsequently the M.P.'s Messrs. Maxton, Buchanan, and Stephen pleaded with the Magistrate and got the girl released on bail of £5.—Reuter.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.

Celebration of 25th Anniversary.

SOME PAST HISTORY.

St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, which was consecrated by the Venerable Archdeacon Banister (afterward Bishop in Kwangsi-Hunan) on October 6, 1906, celebrated its 25th anniversary yesterday, when special morning and evening services were held. There was a large congregation present at both.

At matins, conducted by the Vicar (the Rev. W. Walton Rogers), assisted by the Rev. E. A. Armstrong, the Choral Communion service was in the form of thanksgiving. The full choir, with Mr. Rupert Baldwin, A.T.C.L., at the organ, proceeded up the aisle to the hymn, "The Church's One Foundation."

The preacher was the Rev. A. D. Stewart, M.A., the only clergyman now in the Colony who was present at the consecration service. Taking as his text, "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord," the Rev. A. D. Stewart, touched on the history of St. Andrew's Church. He could remember the time when there was no St. Andrew's Church for Kowloon. The services then had to be held in a room at the Torpedo Depot, and were conducted by the Naval Chaplain.

As far back as 1899, the then Bishop of Victoria, (the Rt. Rev. Dr. J. C. Hoare), came over to Kowloon to select a suitable site for the new Church that was proposed, but although one was found they could not start on the building work on account of the lack of funds.

Magnificent Donation.

It was then suggested by some people that Sir Catchick Paul Chater might be approached for financial assistance. Sir Paul was willing to give $35,000, conditional on a free site being granted by the Government.

Other residents came forward with gifts to supplement the magnificent donation of Sir Paul. Bishop Hoare never lived to see the work completed for he was drowned in the typhoon of 1906, while he was engaged on missionary work on the Delta.

The first Vicar was the Rev. Arthur James Stephen, M.A. (1906-09), who could only give part-time service, as the small congregation at the beginning could not afford the services of a full-time pastor. It was to the credit of the Cathedral Body that they should come forward at this

SEDITIONOUS PAMPHLETS.

Educated Indian Sent to Jail.

EXPULSION ORDER.

(Kowloon Police Court).

Found to have possession of a quality of seditious pamphlets, an Indian was arrested on board the s.s. Kwongtung. He was charged this morning with having possession of seditious literature, and with arriving in the Colony without a passport.

The defendant, whose name is Hayard Singh, is a Punjab, and was educated in America, having certificates for English and seamanship.

Sub-Inspector Elston said that the pamphlets were found in defendant's bag. They were of an inflammatory nature in as much as they urged the public to boycott British goods. The man was thought to be an organiser of the Indian Youth League, and had just arrived from Shanghai.

Mr. Elston also said that he had been instructed to apply for a heavy penalty. Further, the man had been deported from the United States.

Six months' hard labour was imposed on the first charge, and defendant will be expelled from the Colony at the termination of his sentence.

stage and assumed full responsibility for half the stipend of a full-time Vicar conditional on the Rev. A. J. Stephen also helping at their Church. This was agreed to for a term of three years, but before that term ended, Mr. Stephen left for Home.

The Rev. Hugh Octavius Spink, M.A. (1909-1912) was installed Vicar on December 26, 1909, when the speaker was present. When the Great War broke out, Mr. Spink went into active service as one of the ranks, and was a Chaplain of the Forces when he was killed.

Next was the Rev. Norman Christopher Pope, M.A. (1912-1918). His sudden and tragic death deprived the Church of a most admirable pastor.

The Rev. Arthur T. W. Dowd, M.A. (1918-1919) succeeded the Rev. Mr. Pope until the arrival of the Rev. George Reginald Lindsay, M.A. (1919-1927).

At the evening service, the Rev. E. A. Armstrong, B.A., was the speaker, taking as his subject, "Anticipation of the Future."

What Mail Reviewers Say.

"DAYBREAK."

The plot of this "talkie" now showing at the Queen's Theatre is decidedly thin, but with Ramon Novarro and Helen Chandler in the leading roles this does not matter a very great deal. They carry it along successfully, and, as one listens to the delightful Viennese Waltz tunes which accompany it one does not think of the film's obvious defect.

Ramon Novarro has a role to play which suits him admirably, and he plays it with that zest and verve one has come to associate with him.

As for Helen Chandler, in the role of Laura, the music teacher, she gives an excellent portrayal of character. We thought her acting decidedly realistic in the Wine Garden scene as the young girl who had just a little too much of wine than was good for her.

The story is set in Vienna, and we are re-introduced to the usual adventures, which are commonly supposed to be part and parcel of an Austrian army officer's life.

An amusing comedy, "Girl Shock," precedes the feature film, and it does not fail to impel laughter.

"MADAME X."

Her splendid characterisation in the talkie "Madame X" now playing at the Star Theatre on its return, has brought Ruth Chatterton to great heights in stardom. Her acting in this most human drama, it would be safe to say, is second to none. It is a personal triumph for her.

The cast is outstanding. Lewis Stone, in the role of the hard hearted husband, is excellent. Raymond Hackett is acquitted with the role of defending counsel. The prisoner is his own mother, but he does not know it.

Ruth Chatterton's role is heavy and most sympathetic—that of a rich woman who, when refused a chance by her husband of seeing her sick son, is cast out into the streets. She goes from bad to worse, and in an attempt to save her son from shame, she kills La Roque.

"Madame X" is a brilliant production.

From Other Sources.

"I TAKE THIS WOMAN."

She likes designing her own clothes, doing what she wants to do when she wants to do it, sea food, people who can teach her things, colonial furniture, Donn Byrne and crying at a picture.

She hates snappy heroines, meaningless chatter, windstorms, having people plan things for her when she has plans of her own.

She is Carole Lombard, blonde, slender, lovely, who became an actress at ten as Monte Blue's little sister in a motion picture, and has never played sister to a man since. But she has become a motion picture favourite, in spite of much adversity and one serious accident which threatened to clip her ambitions in the bud. Her latest role is with Gary Cooper in "I Take This Woman" from the Mary Roberts Rinehart best-seller, "Lost Ecstasy." It is now showing at the King's Theatre.

Born in Fort Wayne, Indiana, Miss Lombard was taken to California by her parents when a child of seven. At ten she was a "motion picture actress." Five years later, launched on a promising career, an automobile accident caused injuries which threatened permanently to scar her face. By sheer grit she overcame this handicap, and began again.

To-day she is the answer to Paramount's prayer for a beautiful woman who can act.

"ON WITH THE SHOW."

Betty Compson, who plays the part of Nita in "On With the Show" coming to Queen's on Thursday, the first colour talking film, has appeared on the screen since 1915. Engaged by Al Christie to appear in comedies, she soon drifted into the more serious drama, appearing in "Miracle Man," "Woman to Woman," "Docks of New York," "Weary River" and "The Barker." Her husband, James Cruze, is famous as a motion picture director.

"3 GIRLS LOST."

What a director has had for breakfast may be the making of a picture star.

While directing "3 Girls Lost" the Fox comedy drama opening on Wednesday at the King's Theatre, Sidney Lanfield discovered that some such chance governed the first step of nearly all his players.

Loretta Young was playing "bit" roles when Herbert Brenon chose her from more than 50 girls to play opposite the late Lon Chaney in "Laugh, Clown, Laugh"—a role that immediately brought her to the attention of the entire industry.

John Wayne was a property boy on the Fox lot, when Raoul Walsh selected him from dozens of applicants for the coveted lead in "The Big Trail." Joyce Compton, after "Breakfast" in as an extra through the medium of a newspaper beauty contest, struggled along for months without recognition until John Blystone chose her for a prominent part in "Ankles Preferred," which in turn brought a Fox contract.

Joan March, had little luck until John Murray Anderson, struck by her vivid blonde colouring, gave her a role in "King of Jazz" that led to bigger parts in "Inspiration" and "Dance, Pools, Dance."

The only member of the "3 Girls Lost" cast who did not achieve screen prominence in some such fortuitous manner, is Lew Cody. Cody made his film debut as a full-fledged leading man, but at that time he was already a noted figure on the New York stage.

"IRON MAN."

Jean Harlow, who plays the feminine lead in "Iron Man" now at the Central Theatre, entered pictures twice. The first time she broke in, Hal Roach gave her a contract, but her grandfather put up such strong objections that she quitted. Eventually she was offered the lead in "Hell's Angels," and this time her grandfather's opposition was overcome.

"DRACULA."

The entire Colony gasped over "Dracula," Universal's strange drama which closed its run at the Central Theatre last night, and which created a veritable sensation among local cinema-goers.

Never before, it is said, has the screen presented a story which exercises such a powerful effect on the emotions of the audience, dealing as it does with the terrible depredations of a human vampire and his steadily mounting influence over the lives of a group of people, combated by the apparently hopeless efforts of a scientific physician. Bela Lugosi, the famous Hungarian actor, was seen in the title role, and the cast also included Edward Van Sloan and Herbert Bunston, who appeared with Lugosi in the original stage production of the play.

LESSON SERMON.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Hong Kong.

"Unreality" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 4.

The Golden Text was—"The Lord knoweth the thoughts of man, that they are vanity." (Psalm 94; 11).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible—"Whither shall I go from thy spirit? or whither shall I flee from thy presence? If I ascend up into heaven, thou art there: if I make my bed in hell, behold, thou art there. If I take the wings of the morning, and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea; Even there shall thy hand lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me." (Ps. 139; 7-10).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health, with Key to the Scripture," by Mary Baker Eddy—"Since God is All, there is no room for His unlikeness. God, Spirit, alone created all, and called it good. Therefore evil, being contrary to good, is unreal, and cannot be the product of God." (p. 339.)

LOW SCORING ON THE SOFT WICKETS.

Three Cricket Matches Played.

REMEDIOS BATS WELL.

In spite of the dull and gloomy weather, three cricket matches were played, all of them being friendly games, on Saturday. The League matches between the University and the Royal Artillery in the senior division and the University and the Police in the junior section were postponed, while the inter-club match scheduled to be played at the H.K.C.C. was also postponed.

Scoring in all three matches played was on the low side, 534 runs being registered for the loss of 53 wickets during the afternoon. This was probably due to the soft state of the ground which was the cause of the postponement of the Kowloon Cricket Club inter-club match.

In an inter-club match on the I.R.C. ground, a team led by A. H. Madar beat F. D. Pereira's XI by 11 runs, and, although it was a low-scoring game, some good cricket was witnessed. On the day's form, it is more than likely that the Indians will again make a bold bid for dual championship honours this season.

The R.E. and Signals entertained Queen's College and won comfortably, but the Recreation met with quite a different fate when they entertained the Diocesan Boys' School and lost by eight wickets.

Saturday's Score Board:
A. H. Madar's XI: 104 (A. H. Madar 41).
F. D. Pereira's XI: 93.

Recreation: 63 (F. J. Remedios 31, D. Whitley 4 for 9).
D.B.S.: 80 for 3 (R. J. Reed 32, A. Prata 26*).

R.E. & S.C.: 133 (Cpl. Saunders 40, Tai Yan-pui 6 for 44).
Queen's College: 61 (Cpl. Meehan 3 for 8, Lt. Gough 3 for 4).

K.C.C. DEFEAT THE VOLUNTEERS.

Thrilling Victory in Last Over.

OWEN HUGHES IN FORM.

At the K.C.C. yesterday the Volunteers were decidedly unfortunate in losing to the Kowloon Cricket Club by the large margin of six wickets. Batting first the Volunteers ran up the huge total of 180 for the loss of seven wickets and, presuming that stumps would be drawn at six o'clock, E. J. R. Mitchell applied the closure to the innings. At ten minutes past six the K.C.C. scored the necessary run for victory in fast falling light.

Griffiths and Mitchell gave the Volunteers a good start by enterprising batting against a very moderate attack. A large number of leg balls were treated with scant respect by both batsmen and it was not until 41 runs were on the board that a separation was effected. Owen Hughes lent valuable assistance to the big total with an undefeated contribution of 68. His innings was featured by excellent timing on the leg side and numerous boundaries came as the result of his powerful hook shot. The home bowling again failed miserably as few than eight bowlers being tried in the course of the innings. E. F. Fincher for some reason or other was entirely neglected which was very surprising when considering the state of the pitch and his recent displays with the ball.

A splendid partnership between Fincher and Zimmermann added 114 runs for the third wicket and placed the K.C.C. in a very satisfactory position. Though troubled by Owen Hughes the pair batted well for the runs and it looked as if Fincher would reach three figures. The light, however, faded rapidly and at the close of play Fincher was undefeated with 90 to his credit the result of a steady innings. The conclusion of the match was thrilling to say the least. Off the last ball of the match Skinner ran a short single and, with the

LEAGUE FOOTBALL
HERE AGAIN.Howes Sensational Debut.

ARMY TEAMS PROMINENT.

High scoring was the feature of the official opening of the League football season on Saturday. The Club ran riot and netted eleven times, their opponents, St. Joseph's, replying with three. Of this total Howe, a newcomer to local soccer, helped himself to eight. The Argyls were just too good for Kowloon and won by the odd goal in three. At King's Park the Club de Recreio went down before the Navy by three goals to two.

In the Second Division the Argyls showed splendid form in comfortably overcoming the Navy. Kowloon scored a clear cut victory over the Club, and the Borderers beat the 12th Bty. R.A., who were making their League debut, in a high scoring match.

In the Junior Division, the Club de Recreio overwhelmed the newly-formed Radio Club, whilst the Borderers had the better of their encounter with the Engineers.

INTERPORT RINKS
TESTED.Draw and Defeat Sustained.

RUSSELL'S LEADERSHIP.

Two interport trial games were played on Saturday, the one on the Recreio green ending in a draw and the other game on the Kowloon green saw the Hong Kong representatives beaten by one shot.

The game on the Bowling Green ground attracted a fair crowd and play was of a very high standard. Each side led in turn and at the 10th head the Interporters led by 16-15. Scores were even at the 20th head, and excitement ran high when the Rest laid the only shot in the next head for a well-deserved win.

Match Drawn.

Fine leadership by Russell ably backed up by his No. 3, Silva, saw the Rest share honours in their match with the Interporters on the Recreio green, the scores being 16 shots all.

The green was rather on the heavy side but in spite of this, play was of a high standard. Although they could only manage a draw, the Interport rinks gave the impression that they would be able to hold their own against the Northerners when the big game comes off.

Moscow's Activity.

The Communist movement in the last year or so has been increasing considerably in the Balkans. Greece appears to be the country where these activities are more widespread than elsewhere. The Communist propaganda has reached a degree which has caused the Venizelos Government to resort to energetic measures of defence, since assassinations and revolts of Communist origin have become nearly daily occurrences. Communists penetrate into the prisons in order to release comrades, who then escape to Odessa on Russian ships; they organize revolts among the workmen or among the suffering fugitives from Asia Minor and commit murders which the Police are unable to prevent.

There are two chief reasons for this trend of development of Communism: on the one hand the regime is very much taken up by the control of the Royalist movement; on the other hand, one is trying hurriedly to assimilate the national minorities and to absorb them. The alarm and insecurity which result stimulate Communist propaganda. There can be no doubt that Athens and Salonica to-day are two centres of Bolshevik activity in the Balkans. Now the Government has decreed the dissolution of all so-called sporting and artistic Associations, which, in truth, are Communist Associations. The plan is being envisaged to deport all Communists, sentenced to a term of imprisonment, to the old prisons on the island of Ithaka.

In Bulgaria Communist propaganda, since the change of Government, has set in with every possible means at its disposal. The Communist emissaries, labour men and discontented elements, were able to prepare revolutionary trouble in several towns, as, for instance, in part of Varna and in the Bulgarian industrial centre of Sliven. This agitation, however, came to grief, thanks to the energetic attitude of Muschanow, the Minister of the Interior in the Malinow Cabinet. The Communist leaders had reckoned on extensive changes of the personalities under the new regime, but their hopes were destined to disappointment, for Muschanow hardly made any change in the Cabinet and Government offices and thus avoided experiments. Nevertheless, in Bulgaria, too, the danger of Bolshevism exists. It arises from the serious economic difficulties of vast circles of the population and is supported by the malcontent intelligentsia—in particular, the teachers. The Malinow Government is fully aware of the seriousness of this movement, but it is firmly decided to suppress all attempts at a violent upheaval, a fact which King Boris emphasised in his Speech from the Throne.

In Roumania Communist propaganda has not changed in the course of the last year and the close neighbourhood of Soviet Russia explains it. Notwithstanding this fact, Roumania is better protected against Bolshevik agitation than the other Balkan States, for the simple reason that the Bucharest Governments have all been aware of the undermining activity of Moscow and have established an excellent organisation of their own to counteract it. From time to time a clearance is made, which leaves nothing to be desired in the way of thoroughness and which often strikes at thousands of suspected individuals simultaneously. The Jorga Cabinet, quite recently made a most satisfactory haul in this respect.

Yugo-Slavia is comparatively least haunted by Communism. Here the regime is far too strict and the Police system too well organised to allow of the formation of bigger circles. One cannot, therefore, speak of the threat of Bolshevism for Yugo-Slavia.

In Turkey we can, if anything, note a certain retrogression of Bolshevism. Some time ago the movement was rather pronounced and caused the Government to undertake counter measures. There was not much said about it—the friendship with Moscow made this appear undesirable—but the measures were drastic enough to act as a warning example. Nevertheless, Bolshevik propaganda in Turkey is still successful, and Moscow, no doubt, counts many adherents there, though the actual figures cannot be ascertained.

The latest development is that the Government in Athens has suggested that all the Balkan States should collaborate more closely in order to combat Bolshevism. A general conference of all authorities of public safety is planned, which is to outline a scheme for joint activity.

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNT DETAILS.

"Proprietors must realise that the board had to exercise a certain amount of discretion: as to the details they should give or not give. The whole matter came down to this, if the proprietors placed trust in the board they would not require to have disclosed the interval affairs of a company which were wrapped up in those figures."—Mr. P. CORRESPONDENCE.

H.K. CHINESE AMATEUR ATHLETIC FEDERATION.

[To the Editor of "China Mail."] Sir,—My object in writing this letter is to make known to the public what is the Hong Kong Chinese Amateur Athletic Federation. The appearance of the Federation's name in a recent controversy makes this desirable.

The Federation was founded some years ago, primarily as the governing body to select representatives from among the Hong Kong Chinese for the Far Eastern Olympic. It is affiliated to the Chinese National Athletic Federation, which is the governing body having control of all athletic activities in China. During recent years the H.K.C.A.A.F. has taken a very active part in promoting various forms of sports in and out of this Colony. Competitions in basketball, volleyball, water polo, and other sports between Chinese are held under its direction. There are also intergroup games in tennis and football between the teams of Hong Kong and those from Shanghai, Malaya, and Canton. All Chinese Clubs in Hong Kong which aspire to take part in sports organised by the Chinese National Amateur Athletic Federation or its affiliated members must be a member of the Hong Kong Federation and be bound by its rules.

Yours, etc.,
MOK YING-KWAI,
President.

WEDDING.

St. John's Cathedral Ceremony.

READ-GEORGE.

In St. John's Cathedral on Saturday, Maude Annie, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. George, of the Naval Yard, Kowloon, became the bride of Mr. Arthur Leonard Sydney Read, of the British Consulate, Shameen, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Read, of Shameen.

The Dean (the Very Rev. Alfred Swann, M.A., D.S.C.) officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a dress of white satin trimmed with pearls, with a long embroidered tulle veil designed by Madame Flint. She carried a neat bouquet of Honolulu creoper.

Miss Eileen Aris and the Misses Winifred and Margaret George, (bride's sisters) were in attendance as bridesmaids, with Miss Mona Patey (niece of the bride) as flower girl. The former wore frilled dresses of pink pinon, Miss Aris's dress being also designed by Madame Flint. They carried bouquets of pink gladioli.

As Matron of Honour, Mrs. T. B. Low was attired in a dress of French Grey crepe de chine, whilst the bride's mother wore royal blue morocain.

Mr. T. B. Low discharged the duties of best man.

Later, a largely attended reception was held at Lane, Crawford, restaurant, where the customary toasts were enthusiastically honoured.

The happy couple left by the s.s. President Jefferson, for Japan, where their honeymoon is being spent. The bride's travelling dress was a beige morocain ensemble, executed by Madame Flint.

The bride is well-known as a harbour swimmer and also as a good hockey player. She was the mainstay of the 'Kowloon Ladies' forward line last season.

To-day's Thought.

Most of us take ourselves more seriously than we are taken by others.

Ten Years Ago.

[From the "China Mail" of October 5, 1921.]

To-day's dollar is worth 2/11%.

Canton native banks dealing in the buying and selling of foreign currency, mostly Hong Kong notes, are having a hard struggle to maintain business on account of the unsteady exchange fluctuations and according to the Canton Times several of the largest banks have closed during the last few days. The liabilities of some of the banks in bankruptcy amount to as much as $100,000 and $200,000. It is reported that the reason for this financial crisis is due largely to the sudden drop in the Hong Kong exchange.

PROBLEM OF UNWANTED DOGS IN THE TROPICS

Pasteur Institutes Only A Palliative.

NO OWNERLESS AND UNWANTED ANIMAL SHOULD EXIST.

Dr. L. Nicholls, Director of the Pasteur Institute, Colombo, recently gave an interesting broadcast talk on the subject of "Dogs in the Tropics."

The bones of dogs have been found in caves and rock shelters in Europe mingled with the bones of men who lived in the stone ages at least 10,000 years ago, said the speaker. At that time man was a hunter, and he tamed the wild ancestors of dogs and used them as watch dogs in his caves at night, and for hunting in the field by day. It was not until the arts of agriculture had been discovered that other animals were tamed and used for food or as beasts of burden. Thus the dog was the first animal to be domesticated and has been the constant and faithful companion of man through long ages. Many curious tasks have been imposed upon the dog, such as the working of tread mills to draw water, the turning of spits for cooking meat. He is used in some parts of the world for transport, thus in certain European countries he is harnessed to small carts; and in the Northern parts of the American Continent he draws heavily laden sleighs for long journeys over the snow fields. But he has been used principally as a watch dog, for hunting, for the herding of sheep and cattle, and above all as the most affectionate companion of man.

Temperate Zone Dogs Rest.

The finest breeds of dogs have been evolved for the most part in temperate climates and this is because the dog does not thrive so well in the tropics, and those who would maintain a breed of dogs in hot climates must continually import fresh stock. The reason of this is to a great extent economic; a large part of the population in the tropics have a low standard of living in that they are scantily clad, and occupy primitive dwellings wherein they eke out a bare subsistence. Many of them keep watch dogs and it is not astonishing that their owners can afford to give them very little attention and very little suitable food; consequently they become mangy and verminous soon after birth and this ill-condition renders them liable to many diseases. They wander half-starved searching for food about the towns and villages by day and night and spread broadcast the cause of mange, their intestinal worms, and other parasites and germs.

But there is a medical side to this matter; the uncleanly habits of dogs are familiar to everyone; they readily seek filth and the bad sanitation in many parts of the tropics is such that dogs may often foul their noses or bodies with the germs of such diseases as dysentery. Affectionate owners of dogs fondle them, and worse still allow their children to do so, and thus intestinal diseases may be conveyed.

Unclean Animal.

In some countries in the Near East the dog is considered an unclean animal and is never allowed in houses or in close association with human beings. This casts two reflections upon the inhabitants of these countries; the first is their treatment of animals and the second is their lack of sanitation.

An idea exists that pariah dogs, crows, rats and other vermin are scavengers and thus assist man by cleaning up his surroundings. This is an error; the refuse that untidy communities allow to accumulate in their compounds and streets does not cause disease; it is the vermin such as pariah dogs, rats, and flies which live upon or breed in the refuse that carry diseases.

Apart from the conveyance of human diseases from filth to human beings, dogs harbour parasites and suffer from certain diseases which can infect man. The best known of these diseases of dogs is rabies, which when it occurs in man is usually called "hydrophobia."

The disease is due to a germ so small that it will pass through a filter and it cannot be seen even through the most powerful microscope. But the changes produced in the brain and spinal cord can be seen through a microscope, and it is by searching for these changes in the brain of a dead dog that the diagnosis of death from rabies can be made.

The disease is almost always conveyed by the bite of a rabid dog, but very rarely it may be caused by rubbing infected saliva into an injury even as small as a slight scratch.

Two forms of the disease occur in dogs. One is furious rabies in which the higher parts of the brain are affected. After an incubation period (which may be as long as 6 months or more) the first signs of furious rabies are changes in the dog's character. It may cringe away from its owner, the whites of the eyes show an unusual glint, there is a curious change in the sound of its whine or bark; and usually there is an increased flow of saliva from its mouth. It will snap at any animal or object that impedes it, and will devour earth, leaves and sticks. Its mental distress is obvious, and it will run away, and mad dogs have been known to travel 50 miles in a day snapping at other dogs and animals that they meet and spreading rabies far and wide. The other form of rabies is the paralytic form, in which the spinal cord is affected, and often an early sign of the disease is paralysis of the hind legs. Sometimes there are spasms or paralysis of the throat, which is a little suggestive of the presence of a bone or other object being stuck in the dog's throat and many patients have been treated at the Pasteur Institute because they have tried to remove this hypothetical bone from the throats of their pets, who have been suffering with rabies.

Paralytic rabies is much commoner in Ceylon than furious rabies; this is fortunate, because the former is much less dangerous than the latter. Rabies or hydrophobia in human beings is one of the most appalling diseases. It starts with restlessness and an increasing nervous apprehension. The patient has great mental distress, and terror of impending death. The nerves are attuned to receive the slightest stimulus, and wind blowing upon the patient or loud sounds will send him into painful spasms or even violent convulsions. However great his thirst he cannot drink because the water produces spasms of his throat and the drink will flow into his lungs and not into his stomach. He dies after two or three days' agony from convulsions or paralysis of a vital organ.

Fortunately human beings are not highly susceptible to the disease, and less than 10 per cent. of persons bitten by rabid dogs acquire rabies whether they receive treatment or not. Once the disease has actually developed death is inevitable.

A Rare Condition.

There is a rare condition called "false rabies," which occurs in nervous people, who, after being bitten by a dog, have brooded on their fears, and have discussed the symptoms of rabies and have pondered upon them until they exhibit these symptoms as hysterical manifestations. Needless to state these patients recover more or less quickly, and if they receive treatment another wonderful cure may be bruited abroad. The diagnosis of false rabies is usually easily made, because the patients exaggerate symptoms which are more in accord with popular beliefs than with truth. This is an example:—

—A bungalow servant was bitten by a stray dog, he was not a strong character, and his companions considered it an occasion for drollery, when they met him they copied the bark of a dog and other canine actions. Brooding upon this, one morning he believed he had become rabid and entered the bedroom where his mistress was dressing and crawling quickly up behind her, he bit her on the heel. I need not describe the other doggy acts he performed in the subsequent turmoil. But when the supposed rabid patient with arms and legs securely tied was brought to me, I was occupied for more than an hour in persuading those concerned that all would be for the best. The continued employment of the servant in that bungalow is not recorded.

Pasteur's Genius.

It occurred to the great French genius Pasteur that people who had been bitten might be immunised during the incubation period so that they would not develop the disease. His treatment was successful and modifications of his methods have now been used in hundreds of thousands of cases; and Pasteur Institutes have been established in all parts of the world where rabies exists. We have treated more than 10,000 patients in the small Pasteur Institute in Colombo.

The establishment of Pasteur Institutes is only a mitigation of the evil. The slogan for countries in which rabies exists should be:—"Only dogs that are owned and well cared for shall exist, all ownerless pariah dogs shall be painlessly destroyed." If this were carried out it would benefit both the human and the canine worlds.

TERROR IN MEXICO.

Anti-American Feeling
In Evidence.

TROOPS DESPATCHED.

Mexico City, Sept. 26.
A long list of charges were made to-day in the chamber of deputies of the Mexican congress against Governor Carlos Tejeda of Lower California, including the accusation that he was sponsoring false and troublesome agrarian policies. It was charged that he encouraged groups of armed terrorists in their purpose of seizing small properties of foreigners in Tia Juana and other border centres, instead of proceeding against large-scale exploitation in legal fashion.

Anti-American feeling was reported high in Lower California as bands of trouble-makers sought to improve a reign of terror and force Americans to evacuate. Troops were sent to the region to maintain order.

Aid Americans.

San Diego, Sept. 25.
A detachment of Mexican troops was sent to Encarnada, Mexico, at the request of American ranchers to-day.

The latter said that Mexican agrarians were threatening to expel them, much as the Chileses were driven out of Sonora and Chihuahua recently.

Bert Cobine, manager of the 160,000 acre Circle Bar Ranch, reported that an armed band of 350 agrarians were preying on the various ranch settlements and ordered all Americans to leave by Sunday.

The organisation was assembled in Los Angeles and entered Lower California, gaining strength as it moved from one ranch to another.

Local authorities feared the movement would grow into a revolution.—United Press.

LILIUS AGAIN!

Sues Railroad Company
for P50,000.

Manila, Sept. 23.
Hearings on the P50,000 damage suit instituted by Aleko E. Lilius, local correspondent of several American and British publications, against the Manila Railroad Company, will begin on October 27 in the fourth branch of the court of first instance, presided by Judge Mariano Albert. This case assumed interest owing to the fact that this is the largest damage suit ever instituted against the railway firm. The suit was filed by Mr. Lilius in his behalf and that of his wife, and also his child. The case arose out of a railroad accident which occurred at Dayap last May 10, as a result of which the Lilius family had to remain in St. Paul's Hospital for about four months. Mrs. Lilius and the child in a precarious condition for several days. In filing the suit for damages, Mr. Lilius blamed the railroad for the accident in which his car was totally wrecked.—Manila Bulletin.

COMMUNISM IN U.S.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 25.
Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, addressing the chamber of commerce, declared to-day that Communism is increasing rapidly in the United States.

Something should be done about it, he said. He declared the subject cannot be dismissed lightly by thinking Americans.—United Press.

DROPPED PILOT.

Premier's Audience of the King.

HOUR'S INTERVIEW.

London, Saturday.
Mr. Ramsay MacDonald was back in London at 5.55 this morning from Senham. He did not emerge from the railway compartment until 7.30, when he left to go to breakfast, after which he proceeded to Buckingham Palace where he had an audience of His Majesty at 9.15, which lasted an hour.

The Premier later left for the country for the week-end.

It is officially announced that in response to an invitation from Mr. Laval, Briand, and Flaudin (Finance Minister), who desire to discuss the general position with him, Lord Reading will leave for Paris on Monday.—Reuter.

RESCUED FLIERS.

State They Will Try Hop Again.

New York, Sept. 25.
The would-be trans-Atlantic aviators Will Roddy, Christian Johansen and Fernando Costa-Vieja arrived here to-day still suffering from their experience of floating for a week in the chilly Atlantic off Cape Race.

The fliers were forced down in their plane, which drifted about, riding low in the water.

Their feet were constantly in salt water, and as a result were badly swollen.

However, they insisted they intended to make the flight again.

They departed from Lisbon for New York on September 15, and were lost after being reported from a position 375 miles from Halifax.

After riding the waves in their plane for six days they were rescued by the freighter Belmore on September 21, and brought here by steamer.—United Press.

RECRUITS FOR THE NAVY.

The Duke of York at Greenwich.

The Duke and Duchess of York attended the prize distribution at the Royal Hospital School, Greenwich, the Duke to make the annual inspection of the school and the Duchess to give away the prizes.
The Duchess also handed into the keeping of No. 8 Company the King's Banner, which goes each year to the company with the best record in school and sport. The Banner Company, as it is called, marches at the head of the 900 boys in the school, and the boys of the company have the privilege of wearing lanyards with their naval uniform.

Rear-Admiral L. R. Oliphant, the superintendent, reminded the Duke of York that it was in 1908 that he last visited the school, in company with the King and Queen, who were then Prince and Princess of Wales.
Ten years before that the speaker had the privilege of being shipmates with him, when the King, then Duke of York, commanded the Cressent; and he had a photograph deploring his Royal Highness in a rather curious rig, if he might say so, of a seaman's cap and what the ladies would call a one-piece suit.
(Laughter.) Speaking of the school record in the past year, the superintendent said that the number of boys they were able to send to sea was very largely reduced, because the medical examination at the Admiralty was more strict than formerly, and also because of the reduction in the Navy, which therefore required fewer recruits. With hundreds of merchant ships laid up in the ports, it was also very difficult to get boys to sea in the merchant service. They were hoping not for war but for better times.
(Cheers.)

The Duke of York said that, having served in the Royal Navy himself, he knew how excellent was the reputation held by boys at sea who came from the Royal Hospital School, and from what he had seen that afternoon he was sure that this high reputation would be maintained by the boys who were about to leave to enter the Navy. He asked those who were going to do so to remember that the British Navy was one of the chief factors which made for the peace of the world—(cheers)—and the smaller the Navy, the greater the need for it to be of maximum efficiency. He hoped that every boy would do his best to make it so. The Duchess of York and himself wished all the boys the best of luck, and on her behalf and his own he would ask that four days' extra leave might be given as a souvenir of their visit.
(Cheers.)

A CARGO OF—WATER.

Every few months ships arrive at London docks, and the onlooker would be surprised to see their cargo being transferred to canal barges, for they carry sea-water for the fish at London's Zoo.

The water-ships come from the Bay of Biscay, where they draw up supplies from the ocean, midway between Bordeaux and Ushant.

Experiments have proved that the sea there has peculiar qualities and contains an unusual amount of salt, particularly suited to the Zoo aquarium.

The special sea-carrying tanks are sealed as soon as they are filled and are not opened again until they reach the Zoo laboratories, when they are transferred to the huge reservoirs where 120,000 gallons are constantly stored. Not until several weeks have elapsed and it has been allowed to "settle," is the water tested and passed for use in the aquarium.

As many as 700 tons of sea-water are needed to fill the tanks of the new aquarium recently opened.
Into the special sea-water are put Epsom salts and other chemicals.
The Hawkbill turtle presented by the Prince of Wales spends its life in this mixture, and seems to like it.

Changing the water mixture is a constant job, for the essential elements of the sea that fish require rapidly disappear, although the salt evaporates very gradually.

More than 500,000 gallons of seawater are used every year at the Zoo.

DIPPER DREDGER.

New Vessel to Replace The Lost Cyclope.

An interesting vessel left the Tyne recently on completion, the steam dipper dredger, Dragon, built by Messrs. R. and W. Hawthorn, Leith and Co., Ltd., Hebburn, for the Havre Port Authority. The vessel left the Tyne for its destination in charge of a Dutch tug.
This is the second vessel of the type built by Messrs. Hawthorn, Leith and Co., Ltd., the first, the Cyclope, having been lost during a gale in the North Sea after leaving the Tyne early in the year. The Havre Port Authority then ordered the present vessel, which was commenced at the latter end of May.

The Dragon is practically a mass of machinery, and has been built under an American patent. A feature is three large legs which can be used to raise or lower the vessel when it is engaged in dredging, or excavating work. The vessel has a length of 125ft., width 44ft., and a depth of 12ft. Steam is supplied from a large horizontal multitubular boiler, and an auxiliary boiler is also fitted.
Electric lighting is installed, and there is accommodation for nine men in a deckhouse.

SALE OF WORK.

At St. Paul's Girls'
College.

FOR LAUDABLE CAUSES.

Organised in aid of the Yangtze
Flood Relief Fund, the Ministering Children's League, and the College Maintenance Fund, the members of the Council, the Staff and the students of the St. Paul's Girls' College held a sale of work in the College Building, Macdonnell Road,
on Saturday afternoon.

Lady Peel lent her patronage to the bazaar by graciously performing the opening ceremony at 2.30 p.m. sharp, after which the large gathering of supporters enjoyed a pleasant afternoon among the numerous well laden stalls with their fine array of dainty handwork turned out by those connected with the College and their friends.

The Bishop of Victoria thanked Lady Peel on behalf of the School Council and extended a welcome to her on the occasion of her kind presence. The Bishop said humorously that on account of his health, he would ask the Hon. Dr. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D., to explain the objects of the sale of work.

Many of the articles on sale were very desirable for Christmas presents and were eagerly sought.
They were too numerous to mention and many of them a mere male finds it impossible to adequately describe and is compelled to use much overworked words such as "beauties" and "chic."

There was also much of the fun usual with such functions and altogether a very enjoyable time was spent by young and old alike.

ENGLISH FAIRE.

Unqualified Success in Kowloon.

GLIMPSES OF HOME.

Unqualified success in every direction attended Ye Old English Faire held in the grounds of St. Andrew's Church, Kowloon, on Saturday afternoon. A large crowd thronged the many stalls and entertainments which terminated at eleven o'clock at night. A village green with a picturesque cottage, a reproduction of the like in England in the latter part of the eighteenth century, was set on the lawn.
It was from here that Mrs.
Southern, who was accompanied by the Hon. Mr. W. T. Southern,
C.M.G. (Colonial Secretary) declared the Faire open.

Old Folk Dances.
On the "Village Green" some beautiful old English folk-dances, which included the Maypole Dance, Newcastle (a country dance), and an early Victorian Minuet were skilfully performed by girls of the Diocesan Girls' School. An ancient and intricate dance—the Kirkby Malzeard—received prolonged applause.

The Faire provided much variety. There were many booths, at which all kinds of commodities, comprising fruits, flowers, needlework, books, cigarettes, and Christmas presents of all descriptions were sold. There was a stall devoted to the sale of Christmas cards and calendars specially designed by Mr. S. A. Sweet and the Rev.
E. A. Armstrong, to appeal to folk at home.

A feature of the Faire was that all helpers were dressed in old-time costumes, this adding much to the gaiety of the afternoon. Lavender girls, selling the fragrant herb, were much in evidence, whilst a mysterious pal-list from La Palma had her tent continually full of clients!

All the fun of the traditional Faire was enjoyed by young and old alike. There was the Gar-diner's famous Ducking Stool, for Saucy Spouses, helter-skelter, hoop-la (as indulged in by His Majesty King George VIII),
Miss White's lucky dip fishing pool, darts, coconut shies, yelde English game of skee-ball, tubs of floating apples, treacle buns, and numerous other amusements, including an adventurous aerial trip.

At tea and supper, served in pleasing surroundings, the visitor was able to enjoy Homeland dainties, such as hokey pokey, brandy snaps, Yorkshire pudding and potato bread.

"Strolling Players."
At intervals, the "Strolling players," composed of Messrs.
Sweet, Woolley, Baldwin, Kew, Rupert Baldwin and White, presented a brief scene of young Pyramus and his lover Thisbe. It was very tragical mirth. Besides this the players made great hits with other comical diversions which included a most original skit on the Peak
Tram advertisement!

It ran like this:—
There was once a young man who said—"Bill, We'll paint a big sign on that hill."
So they painted Peak Tram,
And the public said—"Damn
If you don't take it out, we will."

The proceedings concluded with dancing on the lawn at night.

The proceeds of the Faire are in aid of the St. Andrew's Church Organ Fund.

GANDHI VISITS LANCASHIRE.

Darwin, Sept. 28.
Mahatma Gandhi, India's independence leader who launched his homespun campaign to the detriment of the British textile trade, continued his journey through Lancashire to-day and was alternately cheered and booed by the district's textile workers.
Lancashire is the centre of the textile trade.
While motoring about Gandhi was heavily guarded by police. In the city a patrolman was stationed every 50 feet along the route he followed.

The Mayor of the city later received and welcomed Gandhi officially.
Gandhi came to Lancashire yesterday and began visiting various mills and communities.

Possible Improvements
Being Considered.

The attention which is now being paid to the accommodation of merchant seamen makes it interesting to note that it was the old-time sailor himself who prevented most of the progress being made. Many will remember the experiments that were made from time to time in improving the accommodation of seamen, which failed owing to the attitude of the men. Ventilation was blocked up to preserve the good old-fashioned "fog" which was usual in the sailing ships.

Even since the War there have been some complaints of improved accommodation, notably when companies introduced the custom in their fastest cargo ships of accommodating the men in two promenade decks amidships. This gave really excellent quarters with which one might think it would be impossible to find fault, yet some of the old-timers were heard to say that in the fore-castle the draught could only get in through the door, whereas in these new-fangled arrangements it could come all round.

But there is a new breed of seaman in the Merchant Navy just as there is in the Royal Navy, and although he may lack some of the old-timers' qualities, he is certainly accustomed to better home conditions ashore, and, therefore, appreciates better quarters afloat.

The Mercantile Marine Department of the Board of Trade has circulated to its surveyors details of the proposals regarding crews' accommodation made by the special committee of Shipping of Trade. The proposals were outlined in a statement made to the House of Commons by the President of the Board of Trade.

In addition to receiving details of the recommendations, surveyors are also instructed to ascertain in the case of all new ships the proposals as regards crew spaces as early as possible, so that if necessary they can approach the owners and builders and discuss with them the possibility of making improvements in design or in fittings where these appear to be called for in the light of the recommendations. As regards existing ships, surveyors are instructed to endeavour to secure improvements which can reasonably be expected, having regard to the age and condition of the ships and the particular trades in which they are engaged.

Mr. E. V. Lucas, being perfectly well, has read with an amused interest a report that he was not. It is good testimony to his personal activity and personal vitality that he has two books shortly to appear with his own house of Methuen. One is a fresh series of essays, which, for no particular reason, he entitles "Visibilly Good." The other is a conversational piece— which he calls "The Barber's Clock."

"I think there is confusion in some people's minds between management and direction. A whole-time governor means a governor and managing director. But the governor must be a critic of the management, and, if he is a manager, he cannot well criticise himself. My duty is to place around me first-class whole-time managers whom I and my board direct."—Mr. P. Ashley Cooper.

"IN THE LIGHT OF THE LAW."

Many Famous Cases Recalled.

THE TRANBY CROFT SCANDAL.

Legal reminiscences make strong appeal to very many people who have no personal interest in the law, provided that they are divested of legal technique, and treat matters so that the man in the street can understand and appreciate them.

Of this order of literature may be classed a volume which makes its appearance to-day—"In the Light of the Law" (Grant Richards, 12s. 6d.), written by Mr. Ernest Bowen-Rowlands, barrister-at-law, son of the late Judge William Bowen-Rowlands, who died in 1906.

The author has been responsible for several volumes treating of legal matters and personalities. In this latest issue the reader will find his memory refreshed about many of the most famous causes celebres and murder trials of the last half-century, and gather much fresh information about them.

Three Gallows Failures.

There is, for instance, the remarkable case of the Babbarombe murderer, Lee, and the triple failure of the attempt to hang him in 1836. Mr. Bowen-Rowlands has gone most thoroughly into the causes of this failure, with a minute description of the mechanism of the gallows, which will bear a perhaps somewhat morbid perusal. Berry, the hangman, had his own explanation of why the drop refused to fall three successive times when the lever was pulled, fixing on structural faults; but so late as 1926 the author received a communication professing to explain what really happened.

It appears to have been the custom at the time of this tragic affair for some joiner or carpenter among the prisoners to erect the scaffold, and the story was that the old gaol bird engaged on this task in Lee's case had confessed that he surreptitiously inserted a wedge which prevented the drop from working at the critical moment, and when called in as an expert he removed the wedge and demonstrated that nothing was wrong, only to re-insert it before Lee was again placed upon the drop. So was explained a hiatus which some good folk attributed to the intervention of Providence. Lee's life was spared, the sentence of death being commuted to one of imprisonment.

Innocent of Trickery.
The recent death of one of the participants in the famous baccarat case—"The Tranby Croft Scandal"—gives topical interest to Mr. Bowen-Rowlands's reflections upon that affair. Unquestionably he states his belief that Sir William Gordon-Cumming was innocent of the charges of trickery brought against him, and incidentally relates a story told to him by his father, who had it from Lord Curzon, a brother-in-law of Lord Randolph Churchill. To Lord Randolph the question was put: "What would you have done if you had seen him cheating?" "Backed him," was the laconic reply.

Coming to later times, the author comments with equal felicity upon trials still fresh in memory, last of all that of Bywaters and Mrs. Edith Thompson.

NAVAL PAY.

Alleviations in the Cuts.

London, Saturday.

The new scale of naval pay issued by the Admiralty alleviates the earlier cuts, particularly in the lower ranks. For example, Able Seaman 44d. daily instead of the proposed 36d.; Chief Petty Officer 92d. compared with 90d.; while as regards Officers, with certain exceptions, the standard rates for full unemployed and retired pay in force on September 30 will be reduced by 11 per cent. subject to six months' trial and revision according to the cost of living.—Reuter.

BOYCOTT PACT.

Clitheroe, Sept. 27.

Mahatma Gandhi, India's independence leader, visiting with leaders in the Lancashire textile trades, to-day offered the hard-pressed textile workers a compromise in India's boycott of British textiles.

He said if India were voluntarily given self-government he would advocate the prohibition of all imported cloths except those produced in Lancashire.

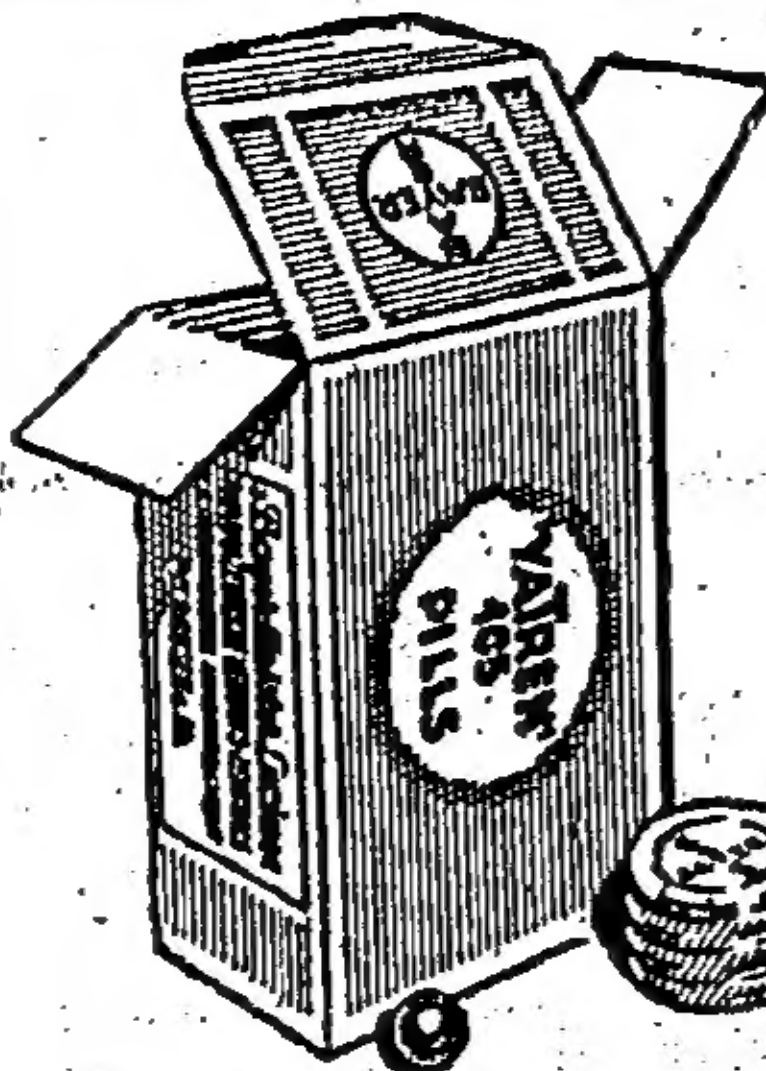

Gandhi said there has been no progress yet in the conference on the future of India's government.—United Press.

Sir John Simon's Memory.

Judges and counsel innumerable come under inspection in this interesting book. On Sir John Simon, K.C., a man who "stands for Pure Intellect," whose practice in money value has "never been equalled," the finest encomium is passed. An incident is recalled illustrative of his phenomenal memory. In a case involving a long and intricate series of transactions dating many years back his "opening" occupied more than three hours, without his being seen to refer to a note, or book, and afterwards his opponent, Sir Edward Carson, K.C., stated that though he had checked every statement he had not found a single error.

Subsequently, when asked by the author if he had used any system of mnemonics, Sir John said, "No"; all he did was to read to his briefs over and over again, thereby fixing in his memory all that he considered material.

Mr. Bowen-Rowlands will enlighten many on the domestic aspects of the Bar, particularly with regard to the relative consequence of being a "junior" or a "King's Counsel." "A.K.C.'ship" is a Court distinction, not a professional honour. . . . It may only imply that the possessor of the appanage is a 'Civil Servant' of high position, a writer of distinction, or a social worthy. The letters do not imply any eminence as a practising barrister." And there follows mention of very many who have won distinction on the Bench and never were King's Counsel—Blackburn, Bowen, Parke, Willes, R. S. Wright, Fraser, McCardie, and Travers Humphreys.
